Honduras Project: Students in Action
Sunday, March 2, Marquis Hall

LALV will host a 2 p.m. dinner featuring a presentation by Lafayette students who participated in an interdisciplinary summer project to improve the storm-water drainage of a community soccer field in Las Lomitas, Honduras, which had experienced annual flooding. Guided by David Veshosky, associate professor of civil and environmental engineering, and Anu Ghai, lecturer in economics, the team used engineering knowledge and rudimentary tools to design and supervise the construction of a drainage system. The project was funded by a grant from the National Science Foundation International Research Experience for Students. Fee is $20. Reserve online by Friday, February 21, with payment in full, at www.lafayette.edu (click on Alumni, then Alumni Calendar of Events) or mail the enclosed form with your check made out to Lafayette College-LALV.

Contact John Squarcia ’69 at johnsquarcia@rcn.com or (610) 438-4989.

LALV Event-Reservation Policies
LALV reserves the right to reject any reservation that does not include payment in full and contact information, either an evening telephone number or an email address (preferred). This information is used solely by the event administrators and the Office of Alumni Relations to manage events. Cancellations received after the “Reserve By” date will not be refunded unless we are able to fill the vacant seats. LALV typically does not deposit checks until after the event has occurred. Two-tiered events: For events that have separate prices for LALV duespayers and those who do not pay dues, each LALV duespayer is entitled to one guest at the duespayer rate. Additional guests are charged the non-duespayer rate.

See the latest LALV chapter information online at community.lafayette.edu/lalv, including updates on chapter events, duespayers roster, alumni card offers and participants, student awards, Hatch awards recipients and history, dinner club menus, and the online, full-color LALV newsletter complete with event photos!
